The Spiritual Sense

"During the past six years," said President Roosevelt at Oklahoma City, "the people of this nation have definitely said 'yes' to the old Biblical question-'Am I my brother's keeper?' In these six years I sense a growing devotion to the teachings of the scriptures, in the quickening of religion, to a greater willingness on the part of the individual to help his neighbor and to live less unto and for himself alone. It is in this spirit that your national government seeks to carry on its task. It is in this spirit that, in the consideration of every problem, our first question is 'What makes for the greatest good to the greatest number?' America needs a government of constant progress along liberal lines. America requires that this progress be sane and honest. America calls for government with

PEDESTRIAN RIGHTS

The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has ruled that pedestrians have equal rights with automobiles on highways that have no sidewalks.

This is the law, undoubtedly, and yet few pedestrians care to contest their right with an automobile, approaching at sixty miles an hour. Those that make the mistake leave handsome claims for damages to their heirs when they stand on their rights and maintain their ground as the vehicle approaches.

This brings us to the question why sidewalks are not provided on highways in congested areas. Surely the State Government that spends millions of dollars to give autoists means of transportation can afford to spend some money to give pedestrians safety as they go about their journeys. It is about time that somebody in authority, somewhere, gave a few thoughts to the rights of pedestrians, now theoretically upheld in the

NEW AUTO DRIVERS

New drivers who do not have Kentucky licenses, people coming in for residence from other states and entucky motorists who put off rewing until after August 1, when their 1937-38 licenses have expired, will be considered as new operators and required to fill in a larger form giving additional information about themselves and their driving experience. All his takes time and effort, but, for the present, is necessary to the production of clover seed that will meet market requirements, or, for that matter, that will be suitable for sowing on the farm which produces it. for if one sows weed seeds, he is sure to reap weeds. Clover seed that is almost free of weed seed can be cleaned with little loss, whereas impure seed cannot be cleaned without great loss of good clover seed.

"Harvesting the seed crop presents only a small problem. Its main consideration is that it be handled in such a way as to shatter as little of the seed as possible. The use of a buncher or windrow attachment for the sickle bar is satisfactory, or the crop may be allowed to lie in the swath and then taken up with a rake while the material is in case.

"The material should be hulled as soon as thoroly cured; otherwise it should be placed in a stack or a barn until it can be hulled. It is not necessary to rot the material in the field in order to hull the seed, tho it makes hulling somewhat easier. Leaving in the field to rot almost always results in much loss of seed, because in damp weather the bunches or windrows must be turned frequently to keep seed from sprouting and much seed is shattered. If rainy weather sets in, the crop is lost. Therefore it is best to stack or house the crop as soon as it is thoroly cured unless it can be hulled at once.

"Hulling is satisfactorily done by either the old type clover seed huller or by a grain thresher with a hulling attachment that is properly adjusted. The small combine harvester will Entered as second class matter, usually operate satisfactorily in red pril 7, 1910, at the postoffice at West clover, tho if there is sufficient rain clover, tho if there is sufficient rain to keep the stems green or to stimulate the growth of new shoots, it will be necessary to cut and cure the crop and then hull it."

Nothing can defeat a man who believes in himself and who cannot be ridiculed, talked down, or written down.

To The Farmer---

You have dealt, man to man, with "Happy" Chandler. Have you ever had any dealing with Barkley? Do you believe Barkley was responsible, either directly or indirectly, for the "Cut Out" checks you received from the Government? He was NOT.

Happy Chandler gave you good rural roads, lowest land taxes in history, better schools, lower truck fees, and relieved you of the Sales Tax. . . Barkley voted AGAINST continuation of low interest rates at Farm Loan Banks; AGAINST low rate for refinancing farm mortgages; he failed to protect the Kentucky Farmer in the acreage allotment and allowed higher percentages be given competing states. And Barkley joined hands with the sales tax crowd and made them his campaign managers.

To The Businessman-

You are no longer a collector of State sales taxes. You are now doing business in the most business-like State in the United States. You do not have to bow to the discrimination of a bi-partisan combine. Your business is safe from a mortgage to pay a State debt Because Governor Chandler has safe-guarded your interests.

Happy Chandler caused a real Labor Department to be created; doubled medical, hospitalization, and burial benefits; abolished waiting period for Workman's Compensation; caused State Unemployment Compensation Law to be enacted; created Free Employment Service; outlawed sale of prison-made goods; ratified Child Labor Amendment; enacted minimum wage law for women and children; outlawed company-paid deputy sheriffs. lawed company-paid deputy sheriffs.

To The Laborer ---

Barkley Failed to make any attempt to relieve Kentucky of the 35c freight rate differential on coal. Barkley said, "The day of railroad expansion is over." "We must foster the return of shipping to the American Rivers."

To MOM and DAD and ALL OF THE FOLK

Governor Chandler has pledged you that when elected he will NEVER cast a vote to send your sons to fight a war on foreign soil. Senator Barkley did that. You believe in the future of your children. You, as a parent, want to see youth advance and take its place in the social and economic structure of the Nation. youth advance and take its piace in the social and economic structure of the Nation. . . A vote for "Happy" Chandler is a vote for the future of your children. . . . He pledges to prevent further discrimination against Kentucky in Federal enactments. His heart is in Kentucky and with Kentuckians. Senator Barkley, who refuses to stand on his own record as a public servant, knows Kentucky only when it is necessary for him to seek office again. The clock on the nearby church had struck four and still Henda made no motion toward going home. His customary time of departure was 3:30. Alternately, he paced the floor, thinking what he would say to Ward when he came in, and to cked to and fro in the swivel chair, tapping the floor with his feet. He eyed Helen constantly, which made her very nervous. Her typessiness he believed was due to uneasiness he believed was due to her fears that he might have learned of what was to take place.

"Ah-ha," he said, eyeing the valise, "a suitcase. You must be going to elope, Miss Blake."

"Nothing like that," replied the girl, quietly.

Such calmness in lying was appalling, thought Henda. Well, he would try again. He remembered Helen had told him some time ago she was to take part in a play that night. That, of course, must have been arranged before she had ever thought of eloping.

"I hope you'll do well in the play tonight, Miss Blake," he ventured.

"Thank you," smiled Helen, "Mr. Ward's identical words."

Henda paused a moment, picking his finger nails.

"Is that what he said?"

"Yes," replied. Helen indifferently.

Henda strode over to the closet and slipped on his coat.

"Tell Jim he had better keep out of my sight tomorrow," he declared, as he yanked on a pair of gloves. Helen looked puzzled but no explanation was offered.

"I will," she said. "Good night, Mr. Hende."
